Q-biz Mail Server has been developed for small businesses to easily manage and filter business email.

Q-biz Mail Server provides you with peace of mind by protecting your business email from Hackers, Spam & Viruses.

Q-biz Mail Server also gives you control over which emails are allowed in, using 'blacklists' and 'whitelists', allowing you to filter out offensive and timewasting emails, whilst ensuring any genuine email is let through.

Spam & Viruses are stopped before they reach your office network, protecting your network computers, and saving on expensive bandwidth costs in the event of infection. In a Statistics NZ report on IT Use in Business in NZ 2001*, 21% of NZ Businesses said that the risk of viruses or hackers accessing confidential information restricted their use of the internet.

New Christchurch Dialup Number

Customers dialling from within the Christchurch calling area should now use the nationwide number 0867 45837.

NEW! Use the power of branding in every email

NEW - Q-biz Mailbrand is a powerful real-time email branding solution that allows you to control the look of every single email sent from your organisation, branding it with your logo, company colours and standardised signature.

Once your email template is configured, every single email sent out from your organisation is automatically branded with your template.

You wouldn't allow your staff to send out a letter that wasn't printed on your official letterhead, with your logo and contact details so why let them send out a business email that looks less than professional?

Most businesses today aren't using the power of day-to-day email to increase brand recognition or create sales and marketing opportunities.

Mailbrand does this with every single email sent, with no software installation required.

Set it and forget it - use our easy once-only setup tool to create your email template, and we'll do the rest, automatically applying your branded template to every email sent from your business.

With Mailbrand it's fast and simple to setup professional, branded email that matches all your business stationery and website branding.
